

As the smoke wanders
at the end
of our time
together I watch
it circle
and spin
moves toward the door.

Lead me
in that same way not a straight predetermined path
a way that the spirit runs as it will
where whither it will go I rest in trust
and try to keep up.